

Vice President, Development (Toronto, West End)

St. Joseph's Health Centre, or St. Joe's Toronto, is a community teaching hospital, affiliated with the University of Toronto, serving the healthcare needs of the city's vibrant west end. Its vision is to advance the health of its community by being Canada's best community teaching health centre. Its people – staff, physicians, volunteers and students – live the vision and values every day, and are committed to serving its patients and their local community with compassion and quality personal care.

A Catholic community teaching hospital, St. Joe's Toronto is a much beloved institution committed to fostering a healthy community for all that extends to patients, their families, and the west Toronto catchment area.

St. Joseph's Health Centre Foundation supports St. Joseph's Health Centre in its tradition of providing quality, caring health services for the southwest Toronto community. The Foundation does this through various fundraising, stewardship and granting activities. Gifts to the Foundation help the Health Centre improve facilities, acquire equipment and support critical continuing education.

St. Joseph's Health Centre Foundation is growing. It has a great community, an outstanding health centre and a $70 million campaign to support St. Joe's. It has built a motivated and strong Foundation group and is looking for one more key person to complete our team.

If you are an enthusiastic, energetic, results-orientated fundraising professional who wants to be part of an innovative campaign and build the fundraising programs please apply to be the Foundation's Vice President, Development.
